

Kick Start Your Creativity!

2-day mixed-media workshop with Jaya King

Sometimes we find that we have painted ourselves into a box. Perhaps we have forced ourselves into a single painting style. There have even been times when our professional mindset takes over our imaginative impulses and we'll think to ourselves, "Will this sell?" or "Can I market this?." Even though this mentality can keep you focused and disciplined, it can also unwittingly become a sort of tunnel vision that pigeon holes your creative self.

Over the course of a 2-day workshop we will explore how to create a strong visual narrative by using a variety of media including gouache, acrylic (and liquid acrylic inks), decorative collage papers and found objects to name a few. There will be some photo reference and visual aids along with a grab bag of goodies (raw wood, rusty nails, old bits of fabric, feathers, and little things with "character"). Each morning will begin with a technique demonstration and discussion; the day will continue with plenty of work time and step-by-step instruction.

All experience levels welcome!

This workshop will urge you out of your comfort zone, embrace inspiration and translate it into a tangible vision. If ever there were a time to "Kick Start Your Creativity", it has arrived!

Figure study with calligraphy inks

See the demo

March 4

1:30 - 4:00pm

Historic Hoover Theatre

March 24 & 25

$125

(materials fee not included)

9:00am - 4:00pm

Historic Hoover Theatre
in San Jose

Register through www.scvwcs.com

e-mail me with any questions
jayascool@earthlink.net

1635 Park Ave, San Jose, CA, 95126