

ROBERT DUVALL

A landscape artist and graphic designer, Robert Duvall was born in Boise, Idaho. He attended College of San Mateo in San Mateo, California and majored in Technical Arts & Graphics. After relocating to Oakland, California he attended the California College of Arts & Crafts. He moved to San Jose, California and worked as commercial artist and graphic designer for Lockheed Missiles and Space Co. and Eudyna Devices. During this time, Robert perfected his style of painting using opaque watercolor to create landscapes and other subjects.

In his workshop, he will introduce the beauty of landscape painting using the medium of Gouache. You will explore the virtues of this exciting water-based medium. Transparency, composition, value and specific techniques will be emphasized. Students will build on these foundations working toward developing a personal style, while achieving greater facility with gouache.
