

MIKE BAILEY

“Watercolor Beyond the Obvious” is a workshop that will push you out of your comfort zone and into new and exciting places. In this workshop you will focus on the elements and principles of good design. Each week Mike’s lecture will focus on one of the elements and/or principles of fine art design—line, shape, size, color, value, repeatability, harmony, to name a few. Seven elements and eight principles will be covered during the ten week course. Students will paint at home. Each student will produce two full-size sheets/canvas (20 x 30) paintings per week in any watermedia. The focus of each week’s paintings will be to emphasize the elements or principles of the lecture presented in the workshop session.

You will learn to view your art in terms of focus and design. Your art will take on a new dimension and you will find yourself stepping “outside the box” to achieve new heights. This workshop is a MUST for every artist.

The workshop can be taken by beginners as well as advanced students.
